

A horizontal strip consisting of 100 square pixels arranged in a single row. The pixels are colored in a grayscale gradient, with some being solid black and others being solid white. The pattern repeats every 4 pixels, creating a visual effect similar to a digital signal or a barcode.